DON CHERRY'S MULTIKULTI

"...one of the most lyrical and important jazz trumpeters."

-Peter Watrous, The New York Times

Don Cherry created an influential legacy by contrasting his Bebop spiced Jazz with genres such as Free Jazz and World music. After rising to prominence performing Free Jazz with Ornette Coleman, Cherry's interest expanded beyond the gamut of American styles and into exotic musical structure and composition. His arrangements often juxtaposed instrumental experimentation with the solemn and ancient musical traditions of the ethnic lands he traveled. Cherry's Bebop-infused solos provided the controversial genre with a traditional Jazz sensibility, helping to maintain an enduring Jazz narrative.

His individual blend of Bebop marinated in exotic musical structures and instruments emphasized artistic expression over technical prowess, and his vanguard sensibilities created a contemporary style and depth all his own. Vibrantly joyful, thoughtfully spiritual, and musically eccentric, Don Cherry fused the Ancient with the Modern and the Avant-Garde with the Traditional, cementing his legacy as a Jazz original and a forefather of the musical globalization known today as World Music.

TOSHICO AKIYOSHI JAZZ ORCHESTRA: Strive for Jive

"...one of our great musical institutions... absolutely amazing." -Jazz Times

Pianist, composer, and arranger Toshiko Akiyoshi leads what is considered to be one of the finest 16-piece Big Bands in Jazz in this full length concert DVD. The band sizzles masterfully and serves up an individual sound while continuing to swing, maintaining a traditional Big Band feel. From the western Bebop of pianist Bud Powell, to eastern folk music structures of Japan and the creativity of the band's principle soloist, saxophone/flutist Lew Tabackin, these various musical influences blend into a rich texture, creating an originality to the renowned Toshiko Akiyoshi Jazz Orchestra.

Featuring Frank Wess and Lew Tabackin, this DVD provides an additional dimension by infusing the concert with interviews from Akiyoshi and Tabackin. The definitive record of the world's foremost modern Jazz orchestra, this DVD is contemporary Big Band music at its best.
